2nd Endometriosis Workshop at the Sanabria Clinic

16/04/2026

Our research group attended the 2nd Endometriosis Workshop, a scientific meeting focused on providing updates and exchanging knowledge on this condition, held at the Clínica Sanabria.

Irene Leonés Baños contributed to the workshop programme with a presentation focusing on the key role played by the microbiota in the development and management of endometriosis. The event provided an ideal forum for discussing the topic with leading professionals in the field and sharing insightful ideas with attendees, reinforcing the importance of translational research in women's health.

We would like to express our gratitude to the organisers at the Sanabria Clinic for the trust they have placed in our team, and to all participants for fostering such a dynamic and interesting discussion.
